A Good Law. Under the law of Germany any person killing a song bird of any species can be fined as high as $5 and sent to jail for as long as two months. No person is permitted to cage a song bird other than a canary. Any boy throwing missiles at a bird or taking away its eggs or nest can be severely punished. Such a law is needed in America.

Her Bright Idea. The daughter of a Providence clergyman was reading in her ecclesiastical paper an account of a religious ceremony in a western diocese: "The solemn eucharist was sung by Bishop Weller, with Bishop Grafton pontificating from the throne." "What does pontificating mean?" she asked her father. "Have you studied Latin and don't know the meaning of a very simple word?" was the reply. "Oh, yes, I see; it means he bridged it." INTERESTING TALKS GIVEN LAST NIGHT AT COMMERCIAL CLUB

Rest Room for Farmers and Their Wives—Committee to Boost Interurban, and Good Roads Were Discussed.

That Janesville needs a place where farmers and their wives might go to rest during their shopping expeditions to the city; that the Commercial Club, which seeks to build an interurban to Madison, should be encouraged; that the inspection of the city's finances ought to be examined, and that good roads should lead to the city from the country districts, were some of the topics discussed last evening at the meeting of the Commercial Club.

It was the second session of the winter and after the supper, served at the Hotel Myers, President George St. Parker called the meeting to order and a series of interesting talks began. A rest room for farmers and their wives had been assigned to J. L. Hostwick, but owing to his absence from the city Frank Jackman took the subject up and presented his views which favored the establishment of such a project in some central location.

This brought forth a discussion of the subject in which Senator J. M. Whitehead, T. S. Howe, P. S. Sheldon, Chas. Putnam, Geo. D. Simpson, John Gollner and H. H. Bliss took part. Mr. Putnam believed that instead of a rest room what Janesville needed was concerted action to secure more factories. The thought was expressed that if the rooms could be established they might be used as rest rooms during the day and for reading rooms and a general meeting place in the evening for persons who might otherwise go to saloons.

John Gollner, who had made a study of the situation, had talked with many foreigners on the question and was of the opinion that if a rest-house could be established, a place where papers from foreign countries might be on file, where the men could smoke and talk, a place between the Y. M. C. A. and the saloon side of life, it would prove successful.

In order to secure a general opinion on this question a committee consisting of Dr. C. G. Dwight, P. S. Sheldon, John Gollner and H. H. Bliss was named to investigate and report at some future meeting of the club.

In order that the views of the citizens of Janesville, which favor the construction of an interurban between Janesville and Madison, might be properly presented to the Railroad Commission at the hearing upon the application of the Commercial Club construction company December 15th a committee of five was named, composed of V. P. Richardson, J. L. Carle, M. R. Osburn, H. H. Bliss and Thos. S. Nolan, to urge the commission to grant the application asked for.

An interesting feature of the evening was the statement by John Gollner that he had sought the right to examine the bills of the city for the past year and that it had been refused him. P. S. Sheldon was certain that this was an error; that Mr. Gollner had been misunderstood; and Alderman George Kimball offered to see that Mr. Gollner was allowed to see all the bills he desired.

Mr. Gollner's idea in looking over the purchases of the city was with a view of obtaining information as to what it cost Janesville to run its city government. He promised to go over the bills and make a report showing the club where any saving could be made if no discoverers excessive cost in any line of material.

The question of good roads was brought up by Geo. Sutherland, who suggested that a committee be appointed to confer with the county board and try and have a strip of road adjacent to the city; on one of the main travel roads, built. It was shown in the discussion that followed that in order to make this effective the city should build a good road to join to this proposed strip of roadway.

A committee composed of Alderman Geo. Kimball, C. S. Putnam and Dr. C. G. Dwight were named to take this matter up and see how the matter could be arranged. The meeting was a most successful one and much enjoyed by all those present. The next meeting will be held in January when the annual election of officers will be held.

WILLIAM A. SCHACHT KNOWN IN THE CITY

Man Under Arrest in Milwaukee For Perjury in Getting on Jury, Worked for Local Firm Several Years Ago.

William A. Schacht, the Milwaukee jurymen, who is under arrest for swearing falsely when being sworn in as a jurymen in Milwaukee, formerly worked for the Parker Pen Company of this city some eight or nine years ago and is well remembered in the city, having visited here several times. His case is described as follows by this morning's Milwaukee papers:

"William A. Schacht, the juror against whom the state lodged a warrant charging perjury, was in district court Tuesday morning. "He asked that the case against him be continued for a week or ten days to allow him time to prepare his defense. Judge Neville B. Nolen granted a continuance for one week. "Later in the day bail for Schacht was fixed at $5,000, but to a late hour Tuesday night no bail had been secured.

"If Schacht is convicted, according to District Attorney August C. Buckus, he will be liable to imprisonment for not less than three nor more than fifteen years. "In every case save murder, perjury is punishable by from two to five years' imprisonment, but perjury in a murder case is made an exception, and imprisonment for from three to fifteen years is the penalty provided.

CAR REPAIRER WAS BADLY HURT YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

John Connors Had Left Forearm Caught Under Car While Making Some Repairs.

While making some repairs on a box car containing a shipment of oranges on a sidetrack at the Janesville Wholesale Grocery company's warehouse on High street yesterday afternoon at 3:30, John J. Connors, a car-repairer on the North-Western, met with an accident that nearly cost him his left hand. The car had been jacked up a few inches, and while Connors was attempting to place a bolt in position, the car slipped over the blocks, catching his left arm just above the wrist between two castings. Although suffering, he tried to keep his position for over five minutes when another jack was secured and the car raised. It was first thought that amputation would be necessary, but an X-ray examination by Dr. Palmer this morning showed that although his forearm had been frightfully bruised, the bones were intact and his hand could be saved.

BITTER BLASTS OF WINTER HAVE DELAYED THE TRAINS

Winter's first real demonstration has worked havoc with the freight and passenger trains. Nearly all the trains are more or less late, due to bad connections, and the impossibility of making good time on the road. Trains 577 and 581 on the North-Western were nearly an hour late this morning and both the Madison and Chicago passengers on the St. Paul road were held up for over half an hour.

Coal was a scarce article at the new yards this morning due to the fact that the engine in the coal shed could not be induced to work during the cold weather. Several of the south and extra were held up until the engines could get a full load.

"In Wyoming" one of the finest productions of the present day will be seen here at the Meyer's Theatre Thursday Dec. 9. Perhaps not since "The Virginian" has the stage been offered a hero at once so human, so manly and so irresistible as Mr. Mack's "Bob Richards." The glorified cowboy has appeared in fiction and stage again and again with a sword and his wild antics with a six-shooter. The thing about Mr. Mack's cowboy, that has appealed so forcefully to the public, is that he is a man. He does some things that society does not sanction as proper; but his instincts are sound, his heart is big, he is generous and honorable, and a man to be trusted with a woman. He has lived the wild, elemental life of his kind, but he knows and loves the better way when he sees it.

WHAT IS DOING IN THE BIG CRUSADE

Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 8.—The "flying squadron" of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association has been ordered on a whirlwind tour of southern, western and northern Wisconsin to "strike while the iron's hot."

From now until Christmas day Dr. Harvey Dee Brown, special representative, and Charles Sandberg, lecturer, will show the tuberculosis exhibits and deliver addresses in about forty-five cities and towns. On some days each will cover two to three towns, speaking mornings, afternoons and evenings.

"Just now when the people of Wisconsin are enthusiastic over the Wisconsin Christmas stamp, learning the true value of the anti-tuberculosis crusade, and pitching in to help others and themselves, there is no better time to pursue our educational work," said Dr. H. E. Dearholt, executive secretary, this morning.

"The people are in a frame of mind when the seed that is sown falls on fertile ground. We have determined to pound the educational side now, in other words, to strike while the iron is hot."

"People might naturally think that while the association is engaged in the sale of the 3,000,000 Wisconsin Christmas stamps to provide additional funds for this educational work and promote the great crusade, it has no time for the real work. We are now showing them that this work is not being neglected, in fact, that it is made more fruitful than ever because of the stamp campaign, which has awakened the people."

Dr. Brown will swing through northern and northwestern Wisconsin. Mr. Sandberg has started in Racine and Walworth counties and will swing over to Richland, Vernon, Monroe and other counties.

"A more practical illustration of the purpose and worth of the Wisconsin Christmas stamp has never been devised," said Campaign Manager Stanley A. Douglas today.

FOUL PLAY THEORY IS NOT SENSATIONAL

In the Case of Thomas Nolan, Who Died from Effects of Exposure at City Hall Yesterday.

Investigation of the circumstances surrounding the death of the late Thomas Nolan, which occurred at the city hall yesterday morning and was directly chargeable to his having spent a portion of the previous night lying in the snow, seem to indicate that there was no ground for any suspicion of foul play and that the blackened right eye and bruises and abrasions on his face might have resulted from a series of falls along the icy walk and roadway. His movements have been traced from supper time until 9:30 Monday evening when he parted with William Saxby at the Five Points, assuring the latter that he was going home. Prior to that time he had visited the saloons of Joe Gakey and Patrick McKelone and had ordered drinks charged to him in both of these places. He had a silver chain on his person and after it had been converted into pennies secured several boxes of matches from a street vendor. Upon examination of his home at 518 South Pearl street yesterday, the missing watch, a bank book, and a purse containing 20 cents were located.

Nolan, when discovered, was lying in the gutter that runs along the terrace in front of the Douglas school and not in the yard, as was reported yesterday. Doctor Daniel Bennett is certain that the man was not there when he crossed over to the school, within ten feet of the spot, at half past five o'clock in the morning. A neighbor, James Murphy, who passed that way about the same time, shares this conviction. When Mr. Bennett first chanced to look out of a window shortly after 6 a. m. and noticed what he supposed to be a blanket or robe lying in front of the school yard, it was lying lengthwise of the gutter. The next time he glanced that way it had changed to a transverse position and that was what caused him to hurry out there to investigate. These facts seem to suggest that Nolan went home after he parted with Mr. Saxby and later on, while in a state of intoxication, endeavored to make his way up town again. He had been living alone in the home. It is said that some of his family tried to dwell there and take care of him but that he drove them out.

The remains have been removed to the residence of his son, Thomas, 1302 West Bluff street. Final funeral arrangements will not be made until word is received from the children living in Seattle.

THE DES MOINES PLAN

The city of Des Moines, Iowa, is the best advertised city in the country today, and all because of the wonderful success of the commission plan of government adopted two years ago.

Delegations visit this city from all parts of the land to investigate the workings of the new law, and tons of literature are sent out in answer to correspondence.

The Des Moines Register and Leader recently had this to say about the new government:

"Business was the watchword of the first commission election. The members of it have looked after the interests of the municipality as the directors of a big corporation would look after the interests of their stockholders. And why not? Is not the city a big corporation—one in which $30,000,000 is invested and everyone of the 100,000 stockholders has a voice? The Des Moines plan was a voice to replace all the old law, slipshod methods by strictly business policies. Mayor A. J. Mathis has recently given expression to this opinion: 'Of all the accomplishments coming as the direct result of the adoption of the Des Moines plan, the greatest is the constant public interest in the work of the council.'

"This is a tangible asset, and the basis of all that has been done. This accomplishment should be attributed to the Des Moines plan because it is essentially a system of government with the charm of novelty in its workings. There was previously no public interest, save that inspired by property interests and politics. Next in importance is a changed process, which in an improved degree tells what is going on at the city hall. The press and the public lean on each other, and the commission is thus inspired."

"One of the most noticeable things which the change in form of government has brought about is the difference in the appearance of the streets. The Des Moines plan has aroused a civic pride, the results of which are apparent on all sides. That the municipality with all its improvements and commendable changes is being run more economically than ever before was shown by the first annual report. Instead of exceeding its income by more than $120,000, as did the old council under the last year of its administration, the new not only lived within its income during the first year, but started on the second with a balance of over $10,000, after all outstanding claims were paid. The tax levy instead of being raised has been twice lowered by the present commission. While it is not claimed the Des Moines plan cures all municipal ills, it is believed it is the nucleus for systems of government that will eventually bring about improved conditions everywhere."

Of course Des Moines is a larger city than Janesville, but the same questions of government confront the smaller cities and the same extravagant waste goes on because of slipshod and unbusinesslike methods.

In talking with the city engineer this morning, the fact was brought out that he has no authority in inspecting street work, but that this important mission is delegated to some ward favorite, whose only qualification is a pull with the aldermen.

The street commissioner and a first ward alderman were interviewed the other day to see if something could not be done to prevent the sprinkling carts from ruining the streets by the excessive use of water.

They both admitted that they had no authority to stop it, and so the work of destruction goes on.

How long would it take a commission to abate this kind of a nuisance? Just long enough to organize and get to work.

FAVORED CLASS

"Secretary Wilson's annual report emphasizes anew the phenomenal prosperity of the agricultural classes, showing that the crops of the current year are valued on the farm at approximately $8,700,000,000, or $863,000,000 more than a year ago. This is an increase of more than 10% in value in twelve months, which is considerably greater than the increase of quantity in farm products and goes far towards explaining the present high cost of living, about which complaint is so universal. This prosperity of the farmer, the largest factor in our industrial life, is the bedrock of the present general activity in business. He is probably making larger profits than are his due, and at the expense of the temporarily helpless consumer. But no one begrudges him his good fortune, for he must use it either in getting out of debt, building up his bank deposit or spending more or less in luxuries, the production of which keeps others well employed."

This paragraph from a New York financial letter is both gratifying and significant. Gratifying, because it means that the artisans representing the largest class of producers are free from want and worry, and significant because the prosperity of the farmer is the foundation of national prosperity.

The wage-earner and the salaried class represent the great army of people with fixed incomes. They know at the commencement of the year just about the amount of money they will have to spend, and economy and good management is necessary to make both ends meet and keep out of debt.

The life of the farmer is more independent because his income is more flexible and he is his own dictator. His income this year is close to $1,000,000, more than it was last year.

The boy who leaves the farm and the carefree life of the country for the rough and tumble of city life, with all its uncertainties, makes a grave mistake. The farm needs him, while the city is not suffering for his presence.

People who are afraid of the "carn" are saying, "Let some other Wisconsin city try it first, and if it works all right then Janesville can adopt the commission plan of government." This is the spirit which has kept the Beaver City at the tail end of the procession for the last quarter century. Let's try the experiment once of being in the lead. There's everything to be gained and nothing to lose, and the publicity value is worth the cost many times over.

The Chicago Tribune is canvassing Wisconsin with the view of organizing a new party with La Follette as the standard-bearer. One of the paper's emissaries was here yesterday, but failed to arouse much enthusiasm on account of the scarcity of disbelievers. The Moxley escapade should satisfy the Chicago organ that it's easier to lead a horse to water than to make him drink.

The president's message is so destitute of fireworks, and so temperate in tone, that the men who have been anxiously waiting for a change to fight are still waiting. If President Taft carries a big stick it is well concealed. His attitude on the tariff question is sensible, and everybody knows that nothing could be gained by attempted revision at the present session, and that much harm would result.

The Gazette is prepared to supply Christmas stamps to any one who will sell them, both in Janesville and the surrounding towns. The campaign is being vigorously pushed, all over the state. Lend a hand and help the good cause along.

The Wisconsin law which provides for government by commission is sound because it omits the recall.

The recall is pernicious, because it is a club which handicaps a mayor in his efforts to accomplish reforms.

A commission, to be successful, must have the moral support of the people. The recall anticipates a lack of confidence.

Meet good men as commissioners, and then stand by them, and there will be no occasion to recall them.

Some people are bound to be dissatisfied with the policy and work of any commission, but this is no argument for the recall.

If a commission decided that Janesville should have but one saloon for every 500 inhabitants, should the members be recalled for that decision? Yet they would be if the law made it possible.

If a commission ordered screens removed, back doors closed and all saloons closed at 10 o'clock, is that sufficient reason for a recall? It would be if permitted.

If all special interests were related in the interests of economy, and for the welfare of all the people, should the commission be recalled for performing this service?

There are many reasons why the recall is a bad feature, and the Wisconsin law-makers were wise in leaving it out.

Politics and Politicians.

State-wide prohibition is being discussed in Virginia. Governor Brown of Georgia has given his friends to understand that he will be a candidate for reelection. Congressman Charles E. Townsend will be a candidate against United States Senator J. C. Burrows in the Allegheny primary next year.

A special election will be held March 8 in the Fourth congressional district of Virginia to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Congressman Lassiter.

Present indications point to State Senator Arthur P. Gorman, a son of the late United States Senator Gorman, as the Democratic candidate for governor of Maryland in 1911.

Democratic leaders of Kansas are arranging to hold a conference in Topeka next month to agree upon a Democratic state ticket for the primary to be held next August.

Congressman E. D. Crumpacker of the Tenth Indiana district announces that he will be a candidate for re-nomination. He has served six consecutive terms in the lower house.

Robert H. Glenn, who has travelled extensively about the country since his retirement from the governorship of North Carolina, believes that Democratic sentiment favors the nomination of Governor Harrison of Ohio for president of 1912.

The son of the late Representative De Armond of Missouri may be nominated by the Democrats to succeed his father. The nomination will be equivalent to election as the district is heavily Democratic.

Lee Cruce of Ardmore, who made the race for the Democratic nomination for governor of Oklahoma two years ago, and was defeated by Charles N. Haskell, has announced himself a candidate for the governorship, subject to the Democratic primaries next summer.

Gen. J. Warren Kiefer, who has been the representative in Congress from the Seventh Ohio district almost continuously for the past thirty-two years, is to have a youthful opponent when the next convention meets. The opponent is to be a retired naval officer, Lieut. Robt. W. Kessler of Tipppecanoe City, Ohio.

Of Vice President of the United States, New York has furnished ten, five of whom became President, two by election and thereby successful. Massachusetts has furnished three, Kentucky two, and South Carolina, Pennsylvania, Alabama, Maine, Tennessee, Illinois, and New Jersey one each.

Richard C. Korens, who is said to be slated for the post of American ambassador to Austria, has been present in political circles since 1884, in which he became a member of the Republican national executive committee. Since 1876 Mr. Korens has been a conspicuous figure in the railroad development of the Southwest, and at the same time one of the leading Republicans of Missouri and St. Louis, his home city.

Henry Rosenberg of Indianapolis, who was the originator of the national tariff commission convention, is expected to be the next Republican candidate for congress in the Seventh Indiana district. He has already declared himself as an anti-Cannon man and strongly in favor of the Beveridge-La Follette-Connally idea of real tariff revision. Mr. Rosenberg is a prominent business man of the Indian metropolis and has never held any public office.

By WALT MASON

(Copyright, 1909, by George Mathew Adams.)

When first mine eyes beheld the sea, its majesty appealed to me: I stood alone upon the shore, and listened to the breakers roar, and cried aloud: "Flow, ocean, flow! You are the biggest thing I know! Flow on, flow on, ye mighty waves, o'er darkened caves and sailors graves, and wash the rocks of shores afar, and beat the cliffs where straws are; flow on where sunny islands lie, and pour your message to the sky, and wait it where Atlantis stood—I would not stop you if I could! Your vastness shakes the human nerve! Until I watched your mighty curves, and heard your voice, that nobly swells, like forty thousand college yells, and saw your wreckage drift life straws, I never knew how small I was!" Thus I addressed the raging sea; it seemed to pay no heed to me; so little spray on me it threw, and wrecked a ship, and drowned a crew, and tore a light-house from its rock, and chased a whale around a block. "Alas!" I mused, "It doesn't seem to heed me a bit; no more my prayers will rebound, and it can chase itself around, and sleep along as best it may; I pass it up; so, Sea, good day!"

IS WOMAN INFERIOR?

When woman demands her right to suffrage one reply of her opponents is this:

"Woman is inherently weaker in body and intellect than man."

Let us call the roll of history. When Israel was at its lowest ebb a woman—Deborah—restored the nation. She not only led the armies, but wrote the battle hymns.

From her throne in Egypt Cleopatra ruled not only her own country, but ruled the world's rulers—Caesar and Mark Antony.

The "golden age" of Greece was the age of Pericles. But a woman ruled Pericles and Athens and answered Socrates according to his logic—Aspasia.

Babylon, long since fallen, once was great. Who organized Babylon and ruled it and led its armies? Who but Semiramis, a woman?

Who shook Rome when the great Hannibal, son of Hambar, was unable? Zenobia, a woman.

And who of all its sovereigns can Russia compare to Peter the Great? Only one—the great Catherine.

In the annals of England what reign can be compared to that of Elizabeth? Only one—the Victorian era.

Can Austria in all its troubled history point with pride to a greater reign than that of strong Maria Theresa?

China in its long records never had an ableer executive than the late Empress Tsi An.

And of all the peerless leaders of men on the battlefield where is one above the Orleans maid of seventeen—Joan of Arc?

When tyranny oppressed the people of South America the amazons alone were able to free them.

Margaret of Anjou loved thrones. And time would fail us to tell of those early American heroines who fought the savages side by side with their husbands, and of Moll Pitcher at Monmouth, of Hannah Whitthrop at Lexington and of the heroic spies and nurses of Federal and Confederate.

Whether or not it would be best to grant suffrage to woman may be a mooted question.

But—

As to her right to suffrage every sense of justice coincides, and as to her ability to use it all history proclaims.

SPENSLEY HERE THIS FORENOON

ARRIVED FROM MINERAL POINT WITH U. S. MARSHAL APPELEY.

WAS INDICTED AT LA CROSSE

On Charges of Aiding and Abetting Phil Allen in Looting of the Mineral Point Bank—Ball to Be Furnished.

Calvert F. Spensley, president of the First National bank of Mineral Point, for the looting of which the cashier, Philip Allen, Jr., has been sentenced to serve ten years in the federal prison, was indicted by the grand jury at La Crosse on Monday and arrived in Jansville on the 10:15 St. Paul train this morning, en route for Madison. He was accompanied by Thomas Tomlin, a wealthy retired farmer and old friend whose father-in-law, the Spensley premises, and Chief Deputy U. S. Marshal William H. Appley, who is under arrest. Mr. Spensley was permitted to move about as a free agent and untraced but little attention at the depot during the stop-over of about an hour made necessary by the late arrival and departure of the Madison train.

No Demonstration
The trio left Mineral Point shortly after seven o'clock. Though the arrival of the Deputy U. S. Marshal there last evening could not have failed to attract attention and the people of Mineral Point had had an looking for several days of what was going to happen, there was scarcely a person at the depot to see the banker off and the "demonstration" anticipated by some of the metropolitan newspapers failed to materialize. As a matter of fact the people of his home town regarded the incident of his arrest with indifference and Mr. Tomlin was authority for the statement that had it not been for the necessary, would be furnished, in which event, Mr. Spensley will be at liberty again, pending his trial, as soon as the court formalities are complied with at Madison.

Was Uncommunicative
He is a well built, well proportioned man, with white hair, small white mustache and imperial, and ruddy complexion, and appears to take the situation calmly, though now and then there is quite naturally, perhaps, some indefinable expression of the hunted and haunted man in his bearing. He has been under surveillance for many days. As was to be expected, he refused to be interviewed. "I do not wish to be discourteous," he said, "but you understand that my case is in the hands of my attorney, Mr. Bushford."

"People who know me, know my characteristics," he said, "and my response to a question as to whether or not he would fight the case. In the event, Mr. Spensley will be at liberty again, pending his trial, as soon as the court formalities are complied with at Madison."

U. S. Marshal Appley was reticent also regarding the contents of the indictment. He declared that it covered over fifty pages of typewritten manuscript and that he had not read it carefully. Though the indictment is said to contain twenty counts, but the three following specific violations of the national banking law are supposed to be alleged: misapplication of the bank's funds; aiding and abetting Philip Allen, Jr. in misapplication of the funds of the bank; and aiding and abetting Allen in making false reports to the controller of the currency regarding the condition of the bank. The alleged offense cover a period of only three years. It is said the federal authorities being barred under the statute of limitations from taking up alleged frauds previous to that time. Just when Spensley may have been alleged to have become involved with Allen in the fraudulent transaction to which the latter pleaded guilty is not divulged.

Details Given.
La Crosse, Wis., Dec. 8.—That a conspiracy existed between Phil Allen, Jr., Frank Hanson, the cashier, who afterwards committed suicide, and Calvert Spensley, officers of the First National bank of that city, by means of which Spensley was able to cash worthless checks in the institution and have the transactions covered up by the other two officials in the substance of the majority of the charges made in the twenty-five indictments against Banker Spensley of Mineral Point.

False Alarm: A telephone call was received at the fire station this morning about six o'clock calling on the fireman to put out a supposed fire in the vicinity of the F. M. Marshall shoe factory. The department responded promptly but when arrived at the Marshall factory found there was no fire and investigation of the neighborhood failed to show any cause for the call. It is thought the person who made the call from a chimney in the vicinity caused the apprehensions of the fireman.

The first basketball team of the intermediate class of the Y. M. C. A. is to play its first game this evening in Rockford with a five composed of boys of about the same age in the Rockford "Y." The quintet whom the Jansville City boys are to play are a classy bunch and the game promises to be fast and exciting. At the practice held last evening the fellows did not show up well, the second team running around town, but this, it is considered, will prove an incentive to make them do their best this evening. The team which will go to Rockford this evening will be composed of the following: Murphy and Strang, forwards; Hemming, center; Green, (captain) and Wilkinson, guards; Keck and MacDonald, substitutes.

SANTA CLAUS WILL HAVE MANY LETTERS

His Little Friends Throughout the City and County Show Firm Belief in His Powers.

"Old Santa Claus" mail bag at the Gazette office is fast becoming full of letters from his many friends. Some want sleds, some guns, some engines and of course the girls all want dolls and doll houses and doll trunks. For the most part the letters are unusually well written and on one side of the paper only. Many little writers, however, have forgotten to put a two cent stamp on the envelope. Be sure and write so your letter will reach the Gazette office before Saturday next. That means you have only two days more left to write in and as to be certain it gets into his mail bag.

At top is Mayor Philip Bredmeyer of Detroit, president of the American Bowling congress; at the bottom, A. L. Langtry, secretary. Bomb tossed at sport world.

NEW CENTRAL AMERICAN COMMISSION.

Detroit, Mich.—Detroit is planning to hurl a bomb into sporting circles which will completely obliterate all other attractions during the American Bowling congress. The bomb has been lighted by Mayor Philip Bredmeyer, who is honorary head of the congress, and A. L. Langtry, this year a secretary. The date for the big explosion in sport circles has been set for February 28. The congress will continue until March 15. Word has been received from all over the United States that practically all the old stars will be back at the big Detroit congress early in 1910. A publicity campaign will be launched with a view to interesting every sporting editor and every sport lover in the United States. It is held that the game is just coming into its own and promises to continue as the one distinctive winter sport. Work on the ball is being pushed to the utmost. Detroit plans to house the bowlers well, furnish alloys as near perfection as possible, and spare no money in making the event the success of years.

Washington.—The appointment of a commission to investigate conditions in Central America is assured. Horace G. Knowles, the new minister to Nicaragua is practically sure of a place on the commission. Mr. Knowles is looked upon as especially equipped for the work of investigation that would come before a commission such as the one contemplated. He served for several years in the consular service, and recently minister to Romania and Serbia. He is well acquainted with conditions in Central America. Among the other names that are expected to come before the State Department for consideration in its selection of the members of the proposed commission are those of Maj. Gen. George W. Davis, former Senator James B. McCreary of Kentucky, Dr. L. S. Rowe of the University of Pennsylvania, Thomas C. Dawson, head of the Latin American bureau of the state department, and J. B. Scott, the department solicitor. Most of these men are familiar with the Spanish language and all have had experience which, in the opinion of officials in touch with the affairs of the state department, would render their service especially valuable. The names of several other men prominent in diplomatic and professional circles also will be discussed before the state department is ready to announce its personnel of the suggested commission.

REBELS SEEK U. S. GIRL—MRS. C. ALFONSO ZELAYA

Managua.—Longish in the palace of the despot Zelaya, longing for a comforting word from her Washington home and in constant fear of capture by the rebel forces of Nicaragua, Mrs. Alfonso Zelaya, an American girl, is praying for the day when the American flag will float over the American internees. Since Sept. 12 this woman has been a prisoner in her father-in-law's mansion. As wife of the son of the president of Nicaragua she is well attended, romps and rides in court society, but lives in constant terror of falling a prisoner to the Indians, crooks and half-breeds who are threatening the capital. Absorbed in the affairs of state, her father-in-law has little time to devote to her and cheer her in this hour of trial. Just what may happen to this American girl is problematical. She may be forced from her adopted home, expatriated, and may remain where she is under the care and protection of Zelaya. The story of her love and subsequent marriage is still fresh in the minds of the public. She was Mrs. Gertrude Baker, a daughter of W. W. Baker, the division of contracts of the postoffice department at Washington. Trouble began immediately after her marriage. Young Zelaya was not in good standing at home and the young bride was forced to work in a moving picture to earn money to support herself. Then came the cablegram of parental forgiveness. They accepted the invitation to be the guests of the president of Nicaragua at the mansion and have been living here quietly since early this year.

CAPTURES FIGHT PLUM—TEX RICKARD

New York, Dec. 8.—The bidding for the Jeffries-Johnson fight was the greatest poker game ever played in America. Tex Rickard won hands down and will stake the great battle either in Utah or California July 4. Jack Gleason and Jimmy Corbett thought they had caught Rickard with a pair of deuces and tried to bluff him out. Rickard stood pat on his hand, not drawing a single card when the sporting men were forming combinations. When the "pot" was opened, Rickard coolly offered $15,000 in cash and a check for $5,000 now and a cash and a check for $101,000 and 66 2/3% of the receipts of the moving pictures. He also agreed to deposit $20,000 within 30 days and the remainder 48 hours before the fight. When the wise fight with the cash in hand, they became fight fans again and not promoters. promoters found their bets called.

Rickard is known to the sport world chiefly through his management of the Nelson-Gians fight.

A FEW SUFFRAGETTES

Mrs. Imeline Pankhurst

Lady Francis Cook

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont

Miss Helen Gould

Mrs. Russell Sage

SUFFRAGETTE has long since passed that stage where it can be considered a fad. It is now a reality, and a stern one at that. With the advent of women into the social arena within its ranks no impetus has been given to the cause of suffrage which is sending it forward with such a steadily increasing power that letalaters in all parts of the world have begun to realize that woman's fight for her rights is no longer the hysterical shriek of that class once sturdily referred to as "The New Woman," but a well-organized and carefully planned campaign of women thoroughly capable of fighting their own battles.

The arrival of Mrs. Imeline Pankhurst, England's most militant suffragette, on these shores, coupled with that of Lady Francis Cook, another English woman whose fight for suffrage has taken her to every corner of the world where civilization has penetrated, has brought about an ominous activity among the American sisters. The Civic Federation, and affiliated bodies could themselves in arranging receptions and mass-meetings for the distinguished visitors, and wherever their voices were uplifted in the great common cause there was an outpouring of women that taxed the police to their utmost to hold the crowds in check and prevent harm from befalling them in their mad rush to see, hear and see again.

In applying the term militant to Mrs. Pankhurst I do so advisedly. For it is her tenacity to board the British ship in his very den, inasmuch as she invaded the sacred confines of the House of Parliament leading her host of suffragettes and from the hallowed Parliament floor she harangued and harangued until she harangued herself into jail. This was not all. Running counter to the orders of London police—the police, or "bobbies," as all well-regulated Britons dub them—who held mass-meetings in all parts of London and again and again landed in jail. The last time she served her prison term and when she emerged from her incarceration she was proclaimed and heralded as "THE SUFFRAGETTE OF SUFFRAGETTES. And why shouldn't she? Didn't she twist the lion's tail?

Of her experiences in London, and especially while in prison, Mrs. Pankhurst recounted to her American sisters with rare feeling and eloquence. She is proclaimed the one woman who suffered for her cause, and today this suffering suffragette can have about anything within the gift of her American sisters she cares to ask for.

Mrs. Pankhurst's appearance at Carnegie Hall, in New York a few weeks ago clearly demonstrated the wonderful growth and interest in the question of suffrage in America's foremost city. Carnegie Hall was designed to seat an audience of three thousand. According to Police Captain Post, who was in charge of the police arrangements, never did so many women force their way into the hall on this occasion. It was a merry crowd, too, for Captain Post said, adding, "The ladies are behaving as well as possible and those gentlemen on the inside are conducting themselves like perfect ladies."

It was only necessary to take a casual glance at the tier of boxes fringing the gallery to be convinced that America's foremost women have for the once set aside the more serious and exacting routine of society to plunge with heart and soul into the fight for women's rights. Among those occupying boxes that night were Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, one of the wealthiest and most prominent women in New York and Newport's most exclusive society, Miss Helen Gould, who inherited many of the millions left by her late father, Jay Gould, and who since his death has spent money lavishly upon her pet charities in an effort. It is said, to make some reputation for the accumulating Mrs. Belmont and money, whose late husband's millions came to her long after she had passed her sixtieth birthday in life's journey, and like Mrs. Gould, is devoting the remainder of her fortune and her multifarious to the alleviation of suffering; Mrs. J. G. Phelps Stokes, who as Miss How Parson, devoted the years prior to her marriage to her millionaire husband to the betterment of conditions on the East side, and Mrs. Clarence Murray, wife of the president of the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company, and the foremost suffragist in America. There were hundreds of others equally prominent and among them might be mentioned Mrs. Jordan Harrison, Mrs. Robert H. Fox and Mrs. William M. Evans, whose husband once had aspirations to be New York's mayor. These are names to conjure with, for each and every one of them have plunged into the fight. Among those occupying boxes that night were Mrs. O. H. P. Evans, whose husband once had aspirations to be New York's mayor. These are names to conjure with, for each and every one of them have plunged into the suffrage movement with all the earnestness of cultured women, who have at their command countless thousands to back them in the battle for the ballot. Of course, the winning over of Mrs. Belmont to the suffrage movement is looked upon by those who have fought so long and against such crushing odds, as the most significant victory of their cause. Mrs. Belmont, however, is a woman to do with Mrs. Belmont's conversion, perhaps, than anyone else, and she was the one who first announced the conversion of the millions of Newport's Blue Bloods. Mrs. Belmont, however, is a woman to do with Mrs. Belmont's conversion, perhaps, than anyone else, and she was the one who first announced the conversion of the millions of Newport's Blue Bloods.

When Mrs. Pankhurst was introduced to her audience by Mrs. Ella Hawley Crosscut, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, several hundred women occupied seats on the stage. A partial list of these women showed that 20 were teachers, 22 doctors, 4 dentists, 40 social workers, 28 trained nurses, 123 tradeswomen, 10 modelers, 1 explorer and mountaineer (Miss Anna Peck), 4 civil engineers, 22 architects, 10 bartenders, 10 actresses, 2 sculptors, 14 journalists, 10 civil service women and 25 lawyers. It can readily be seen that the wave of suffrage has invaded every field of endeavor adopted by woman. Among the most interested spectators were hundreds of taxicabbers, bookbinders, cigar-makers, decorators, gold-leaf workers, hat-trimmers, milliners, librarians, potters, printers, stenographers and waitresses. Here they met and met women of society rubbing elbows with the "home-handled" daughters of toil. For enthusiasm this gathering of women made a Quaker meeting. Their enthusiasm passed all bounds, and had Mrs. Pankhurst seized her opportunity and suggested the starting of a subscription list, it is safe to assert that the funds would have mounted into the hundreds of thousands.

New York and the country at large has thousands upon thousands of suffragists. There are few women nowadays allied with clubs, such as the Civic Federation, who are not pronouncedly suffrage sympathizers. There are thousands of suffragettes also, but the latter is a militant in every particular and goes to greater lengths toward carrying her point than her more modest and retiring sister, the suffragist. But women are born fighters, and realizing that nearly every step forward that the cause of suffrage has made has been accomplished by dint of grit and indomitable courage, they are more prone to overlook what they once called "the vulgar forwardness" of the suffragette.

To return to Mrs. Pankhurst, it might be well to tell what she accomplished in England. As the mother of the militant movement in that country this intrepid leader succeeded in having a woman nominated for and elected mayor of one of its cities. This woman, she declares, has given the city the best government in its history and she predicts that within the next decade there will be a hundred mayorsesses in America. Mrs. Pankhurst referred to that fashionable colony in the suburbs of Richmond, Va., where women have been given a voice in its government. She asserts that the enfranchisement of women must of a necessity follow, and this done, it will be but an easy step to procure allies for the candidates of their choice and sex. While deeply gratified at the great headway the suffrage movement is making here, Mrs. Pankhurst declared that the belated state of America as regards women's questions is glaringly apparent. America, she says, is behind the times, and has been slow to grasp the true meaning of a great movement even when it was explained to her.

"American women are behind us," said the militant martyr, while summing up the situation here. "I am surprised that there should be so little feeling among women generally on the subject of suffrage. I will admit that you have made wonderful headway in the last year or so and are now on the very eve of getting for yourselves that which has taken us nearly a century to accomplish, or, at least, you will never get the vote until you really want it, but bear in mind that the fight against the men is always when you have united women aligned against them. We find our men comparatively open-minded; they are awakened to a new interest in women through the movement and I am always amazed when people worry about a dying child. Old things are bound to go, of course, but we have based our struggle on civility, and I have seen a very interesting new chapter spring up. Your men are reputed to be the most chivalrous in the world; therefore your fight should be the easier."

The women of Great Britain and America will get the ballot within the year. This is Lady Cook's prophecy. Whether it comes here or in England first is an even chance, she says. Here it may hang on any sudden emergency, on the other side of the water, she says, it may be forced upon the politicians to stem the tide of a threatening revolution. Some of Lady Cook's utterances are paradoxical. After setting forth her views in her soft, purring way she recently made this rather uncharacteristic utterance:

"Women's struggle for the vote in England is to the death. It is the struggle of desperation, of unadvised desperation, and some of the women now engaged in it would look for nothing better than to die before Aquila. The English minister, to protect himself, has before now been obliged to take his women on more than one platform with him, for the suffragettes respect their area. But if the battle there is not soon won it is patent that blood will be the outcome. There will be bombs thrown; there will be murder done."

America's suffragettes so far have not given voice to any such violent utterances, but nevertheless they are working with a quiet and grim determination that augurs ill for the men who cross their path or block their progress in their fight for equal rights and enfranchisement. It is coming and, like all coming events, it casts its shadow before it. In this case Mrs. Pankhurst and Lady Cook furnished the shadows, for their coming plunged the American suffragettes into a ferment of enthusiasm and there is no stopping bar.

RISK PROBE IS ON: MR. SHELTON ILL

GRAND JURY DELVES INTO PHOENIX FIRE INSURANCE SHORTAGE.

COMPANY'S CAPITAL IS INTACT

Directors Are Blamed for Laxity of Firm's Management—Indictments, if Any, Likely Will Be on Larceny Charge.

New York, Dec. 8.—The revolution concerning the prosecutions and speculations charged against George Preston Sheldon, as president of the Phoenix Fire Insurance Company, are believed to be the first move in a far-reaching investigation into the methods and dealings of several fire insurance companies.

Mr. Sheldon, the deposed president, is not only dangerously ill, but it is believed that his mind has been damaged by his trouble. He has not been told that charges against him have been made public, as it is feared the shock would kill him. The grand jury began an investigation of the irregularities charged against Sheldon.

Four witnesses were examined by Assistant District Attorney Nott, all of them former business associates of Mr. Sheldon. Lawyers who are following the case point out that the first matter to be investigated will be in connection with alleged specific irregular acts in the use of the company's funds by its former president. And if any indictment is found, it is said, it will be upon a charge of larceny.

Company's Capital Is Intact. Henry Evans, president of the Continental Insurance Company, who was elected chairman of the executive committee of the Phoenix Company intimated that other officials besides President Sheldon may be deposed as a result of the disclosures. Mr. Evans in an official statement—the first since the trouble was made public—declared his belief that the company's capital of $1,500,000 is intact and that there will be a net surplus of about $500,000.

The insurance department believes that the company's risks to the public are not involved and that the entire loss, through loans alleged to have been negotiated by Sheldon, can be balanced by crossing off $1,000,000 of the company's $3,000,000 surplus. Although the investigation thus far shows that Sheldon managed the affairs of the company alone and without consulting the board of directors, Superintendent Hotel Cass declares that each of the directors is responsible under the law.

Preachers Not Overpaid.

In England the early Methodist preacher, when away from home, was expected to get his food from his congregation, and when at home was allowed 36 cents a day, with the stipulation that the acceptance of an invitation to dine led to a dine deduction. His wife was allowed 96 cents a week, with a further concession of five dollars a quarter for each child. At the Bristol conference of 1762, however, a definite salary was fixed. For the future the preacher was able to call $50 a year his very own.

Good Business Transaction.

In one instance in the west a ranchman found gold "color" in his valuable orchard. He figured that he could make more money gold mining than by fruit raising, so he installed a dredge in his orchard. The trees were cut down as the dredge progressed and soon all the great orchard had been destroyed by the machine, but the ranchman had been made a millionaire, while it was a matter of ease to replant his orchard.

High Cost of Beauty.

Though the prescription seems to have disappeared from the pharmacopoeia of modern "beauty specialists," it was for centuries notorious that to feed on snake meat was the way to win perpetual youth; to cure galls, again, or any other swelling, all that was necessary was to munch a viper, from the tail up, as it might be a stick of celery; while yet another snake, if eaten, conferred the power of understanding all the tongues of birds.

ADVICE TO WOMEN

A Message from a Famous Beauty Specialist to Women Lacking in Energy and Vitality.

Thousands of women vainly attempt to improve their complexion and to remove blackheads, crows' feet and other blemishes, through the use of cosmetics. This treatment fails because the trouble lies far deeper than the skin. They are suffering from impure and impoverished blood. This condition is in many cases due to a catarrhal condition of the whole system which finds its expression in sallow, muddy complexion, darkened eyes, general weakness of the system and perhaps most plainly in the weeping of mucous membranes that is commonly called catarrh.

In fact this whole tendency is properly speaking, Catarrh. Bauld this catarrh, and the complexion will clear as if by magic, eyes will brighten, faces become rosy and shoulders erect. Perfect beauty goes only with perfect health, and perfect health for women can only be obtained through one certain treatment—that which will cure catarrh.

Mrs. Swift, New York, the famous beauty specialist known throughout the world and an accepted authority on all relating thereto states that the one positive and permanent relief for catarrh is Rosall Mucin-Tone. Here is her letter:

"I can strongly endorse the claims made for Rosall Mucin-Tone as a cure for systemic catarrh. Its tone effects are remarkable. It builds up the strength and restores vitality. If women who are tired and run down lacking in energy and vitality, will use Rosall Mucin-Tone, they will praise me as I do its strengthening and healing qualities."

Rosall Mucin-Tone works through the blood, acting thus upon the mucous cells—the congestion and inflammation of which causes local catarrh. This remedy causes poison to be expelled from the system, and the blood is purified and revitalized. Thus the natural functions of the mucous cells are restored, and the mucous are cleansed and made strong. We know that Rosall Mucin-Tone does relieve catarrh. We positively guarantee to refund the money paid us for this remedy in every case where the user is dissatisfied. It is a builder of vigorous health and a creator of good complexion. Price 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Mail orders filled. It may be obtained only at our store, The Rosall Store, The Smith Drug Co.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"WHEN is a lie not a lie?"

That is a queer old conundrum, that a great many people have an amusing way of solving to their complete satisfaction.

And most of them are fortunate enough not to realize how funny their solution is.

This is a little dialogue I heard between a mother and daughter the other day. The girl was expecting company whom she was too busy to receive.

"Now, mother, if the bell rings, won't you please go to the door and tell Mr. Lewis that I'm not at home?" she begged.

Her mother was properly horrified.

"Indeed, I won't do anything of the sort," she said. "I will say that you are busy if you want, Ann, but say you aren't in—of course I won't. I'm not in the habit of telling lies like that."

Ann insisted and finally her mother had a bright idea.

"Go out and study under the tree for awhile," she said, "and then if he comes I'll tell him you're not in."

And she did.

"Of course I wouldn't tell that boy a lie," she said to me with righteous indignation after Mr. Lewis had been duly informed that Ann was out and Ann had returned from her five-minute sojourn under the apple tree.

Now wasn't that perfectly absurd?

It wouldn't have been the least bit more a lie if Ann had been right in the house, or rather, it wasn't the least bit less a lie because Ann had gone out under the apple tree.

And Ann's mother is only one of a very large class of people who are perfectly satisfied to murder the spirit of truth so long as they keep its letter inviolate.

This is not a preachment against lying.

I suppose everyone knows that lying is wrong, and I realize I wouldn't be adding particularly to the wisdom of the ages by restating that fact.

This is simply a protest against pretending you are not lying when you are.

Every time anyone does that sort of thing with the idea that he is telling the truth, he is simply telling two lies instead of one—one to the person he addresses and one to himself.

And when you come right down to it, about the worst kind of lying you can do is lying to yourself.

For if you tell very many lies to other people they are pretty sure to find you out.

But you can lie to yourself for years and never find yourself out, or maybe not until you are too thoroughly tangled in your own self-deceit over to get out.

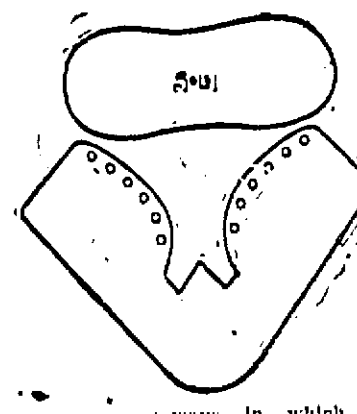

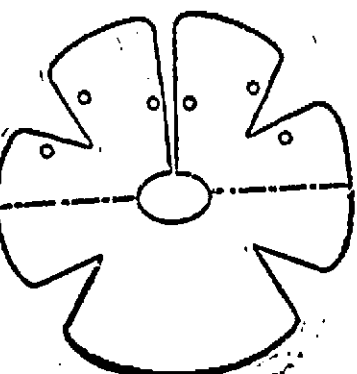

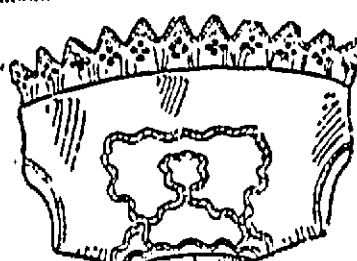

Perhaps I'm queer, but I must say that for myself I like the man who, when he isn't willing to tell the truth, tells a good straight lie and admits to himself he is telling it, to the man who lies and then skulks behind a pretense of truth.

A lie, as you may have heard in your youth, is an intention to deceive.

It doesn't seem to me it makes any difference, whether you carry out your intention by sending Ann into the garden or by just saying she isn't in.

CHRISTMAS SUGGESTIONS.

For the embroiderer the way is plain. The embroidered Christmas gift is sure to be accepted with many exclamations of delight. The great drawback to embroidering is the amount of time consumed. There are, however, many ways in which the work can be made effective and yet simple.

For Men—Bath Towels.

One gift for a man, that was a great success was a pair of fine extra large bath towels with his initials worked in wash thread. The padded initials were bought and were in old English.

Midnight Doctors

are the most unwelcome visitors—even the Doctor himself curses the luck that compelled him to leave his comfortable bed. Suppose you try our method, and keep a big 35c bottle of Perry Davis Painkiller in the house, and let the Doctor stay in bed and enjoy himself.

but script could be used as well.

The coat could be almost what you will as towels come at all prices. Better give one that is fine and large than two smaller, inferior ones.

A Soiled Clothes Bag.

This may be made of two fine white damask or buck towels sewed together with a tape run in for a drawstring and to hang the bag by. The initials or monogram may be embroidered if there is time, but the gift is handsome and just as useful without.

Do not give the baby a fine embroidered bib. It is a waste of time and good material. If a baby needs a bib a fine one lasts but a few minutes and then is an unsightly rag. Put your work into something more useful.

The little soft embroidered flannel sacks are not new but they are always welcome. The little butterfly jacket, cut in one piece and the edges bordered with daintily colored wash ribbon is a little newer than the one with embroidered edges. To make the jacket as shown will take a scrap of cloth 18x11 inches. Ribbon to face nearly three yards if the facing goes under the arms and eyelets used to tie the little jacket together. The ribbon to tie will require about two yards more. Made in white and edged with pink or blue are both dainty and serviceable.

A New Bib.

If you really feel that you want to make a bib that will be worth while take a pattern of the baby's waist and cut a bib by that. Sew up under the arm and work button holes and sew buttons down the back. Buttonhole the lower edges and around the armholes and neck. If an elaborate effect is wished finish all with a ruffle of lace and embroider the fronts. This bib will not get in baby's mouth and will serve as a yoke to freshen him up after he has become a little crushed and rumpled.

Little First Shoes.

For the baby that is too young to creep but who is in short clothes the little embroidered shoes are dainty and serviceable. They should be made from any of the soft, fine, thick white goods that come for summer tub skirts. The tops and uppers are especially good as they are so finely corded and are yet firm enough to stand wear and tear. A row of eyelets round the top serves to tie them on. On the toes may be worked a spray of forget-me-nots or a softly padded daisy. If the mother is sentimental and the baby is a girl it would be well to find out if she has associated any particular flower with her little daughter and use that for a marker on all her clothes.

One View of Life.

The play and even the strain of the faculties—the various faculties of body, mind, and spirit, in wise proportions and alterations—is the true human joy. Plenty to think of, plenty to observe, plenty to pursue, plenty to delight in, plenty to help, plenty to love—these make the gladness and the richness of the being.—J. Baldwin Brown.

BEAUTIFUL VELVET COSTUME.

A costume of golden brown velvet accompanies this. The design of this frock is very simple, but the richness of material and trimming combined to make a stunning gown. The design is semi-princess, a center panel of the velvet running the entire length of the dress with a belt of silk and gold embroidery separating waist and skirt at the sides. This embroidery is also used to bind apparently the fullness of the skirt near the bottom and crosses the center at the feet. An effective sleeve is produced by having the outer portion in horizontal tucks about two inches in length, thus allowing the fullness to escape, thus forming a sort of puff at either side.

Wedding Gift Clubbing.

She who notes the names on cards attached to wedding gifts has marked an increasing tendency to club together in buying one striking present. The idea is becoming popular. Showing small gifts upon young couples is bound to result in many embarrassing duplications. One bride gazed with horror at no less than 14 pin knives. Neither she nor her future husband ever indulged in pin. Clubbing avoids such duplications.

Of all sad words of tongue or pen—The saddest are these: "It might have been."

TABLE OF THE WOMAN WHO SHOPPED EARLY

Once upon a time there was a girl in our town who was wise. Honest! But she was not so fair as her sisters and the boys had more fun with giggling Liz and other members of the Beauty but brainless Brigade. It hurt this wise girl because she couldn't shine and she tired of her role of being the Wall Flower when other girls found it so easy to be Lilies of the Valley and Forget-me-nots. Then One Day she had a Vision. She knew she was a second Joan of Arc. She tried it out on her Brothers but it wouldn't work. Now our little Heroine was a Reader of the Daily Newspapers and she knew as much Slang as Anyone and she was wise to some of the Sad Sweet Stories of how the Brave little Child Mother was struggling with Poverty and how the brutal Husband got a Divorce because his Wife struck him with a Stick. But One never knows Half there is to know about a Newspaper and she fell for Editor's Talk about shopping Early. She didn't know that the Poor Editor always postponed. His Shopping until after the First of the Year and celebrate Christmas when his Subscriber Calls and leaves Something Nice by the Way of a Potato or a few Words of Wisdom. But we deprecate. Our Wise but Homely Girl goes out to do her Shopping while the Clerks were not busy, while the Shelves were laden with a big Assortment and while the Streets and Stores were not Crowded. She hid her purchase away and when the Foolish People fighting at the Bargain Counters. She just Smiled. For One Week she watched the Rush, just Smiling and looking Wise. On Christmas Morning she looked into her mirror and lo, the Dream of Joan of Arc had been realized. She was Beautiful.

Moral. Don't use Power and Paint, don't hire a private Beauty Expert, but Shop Early and be beautiful.

Patrick Case Up for Twenty-fourth Time.

Alfred T. Patrick, Convicted of the Murder of William Marsh Rice, aged Texas millionaire, is now arguing his case for twenty-fourth time on the question whether he has been legally committed or detained.

Brooklyn.—The most remarkable case of its kind in American court annals is that of Alfred T. Patrick. He has been convicted of murder by one court, sentenced to death three times punishment commuted to life imprisonment by the Governor, and now he has been taken from Sing Sing prison to the Brooklyn court to argue once more on the question of whether he has been legally committed or detained. The trial opened November 23, and is the twenty-fourth time he has appeared in court in his fight for his life.

MODERN WOODMEN TO HAVE A NEW RITUAL

Will Be Put in Use January First—
Some Objections Raised
by Old Members.

Word has been received by the officers of the Janesville camp, Modern Woodmen of America, from the head
camp at Rock Island, that the order has adopted a new ritual and that it will be introduced as soon after the new year as possible. Dr. J. A. Rutledge, Elgin, chairman of the printing committee, who has taken a deep interest in the work, says:

"In nearly every camp will be found some old members who have committed to memory the ritual. They have given it hours of study and take particular pride in their accomplishment. Few of these old men will again consent to memory a ritual. Just why they will not do so can not be explained. When these faithful few are no longer necessary to the correct execution of the work, they may then lose interest and join the ranks of the non-attending members.
Therefore, we repeat, it is a serious thing to change the ritual of a society.

"The Peoria head camp voted that the ritual of the Modern Woodmen of America should be revised and the head camp was directed to appoint a head camp ritual committee for that purpose. This committee had practically finished its work, and on Nov. 9 met in Chicago with a committee from the executive council to submit the results of their efforts. They presented a complete ritual, which was examined Tuesday night by the team from Camp 1147 of Ravenswood. The new ritual retains much of the old work, which has been shortened and simplified. Some new scenes have been introduced and, as a whole, the work of the committee is to be commended.

"The younger members and those who had tired of the old work will hail with delight the advent of a new ritual.
The revised ritual was approved and ordered printed by the executive council at its November meeting, but it will not be ready for distribution until the first of the year."

PRELATES ANNOUNCE
PLANS FOR CHAPEL

Collections Will Be Taken in All Catholic Churches on Sunday.

On Sunday, December 12, a collection will be taken in all Catholic churches in Wisconsin for the Catholic university chapel, Madison, to be dedicated next month.

On Sunday a communication from Archbishop Sebastian G. Messmer and Bishops James Schwabach, La Crosse, and Joseph J. Fox, Green Bay, was read in all churches. The communication says that there are 5,000 Catholic young men attending non-Catholic colleges and universities in this country and that there are 400 such in Madison alone.

The temptations presented by the large university are referred to as follows:

"No one can deny that a university town, where thousands of young people of both sexes gather from all parts of the country, who must of necessity be allowed a larger degree of personal freedom than they could enjoy at home, offers in the nature of the case many and grave dangers to Catholic morality.

"The sad experience of recent years has clearly shown that, left without the special safeguards of religion,
many Catholic students at non-Catholic institutions have either fallen away entirely from the faith of their fathers or have become indifferent to their Catholic religion.

"The whole trend of modern science is hostile to Catholicity. The fundamental dogmas and moral principles of the Christian religion are either directly attacked and denied or treated with such haughty contempt and pity by otherwise learned men engaged as professors in those colleges and universities, that the Catholic student must necessarily become confused in mind, unless his Christian faith be as clear and strong as a crystal rock.

"The history and institutions of the church, her popes, bishops and priests, her monks and nuns, her liturgy and pious practices, her laws and public politics are only too often presented in a light so false and with a partiality so bitter, that the young Catholic will be assuredly confounded in heart, unless his Catholic loyalty be as firm as the mountains. Nor may we lose sight of the powerful influence of personal surroundings. There are hundreds of these subtle influences, by student fraternities and clubs, by reading and debating societies, by athletic unions, and so on, which are often more dangerous to Catholic faith and feeling than the open assault upon religion."

BELOIT COUNCIL IS HIGHLY INDIGNANT

Demand of District Attorney for Back Taxes Arouses Ire of Line
City "Dads."

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Beloit, Dec. 8.—Members of the common council are highly indignant over the receipt of a letter from District Attorney Fisher in behalf of the county board of supervisors in which he demands the usual license fee from the city. Inasmuch as every year about January 15, the city has paid the $50 license fee without protest or objection, the council fails to understand why the county board should demand the money of them as though there was a disposition to withhold it.
The council expects to pay over the money as soon as the tax money comes in. "In relation to the fee from the interurban railway the city has never had a bill sent in from the county board. The aldermen are surprised that the city members of the county board did not make it clear where Beloit stands on the license matter.
Some aldermen say that it is a question worth debating whether or not the city can be forced to pay that saloon fee, but there is no disposition at this time to officially refuse to pay it.

EVANSVILLE WOODMEN TO HAVE BIG BANQUET SOON

Lodge Members, Wives and Members of Royal Neighbors to Enjoy Feast Next Tuesday.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Evansville, Dec. 7.—The members of the Modern Woodmen of this city are planning for a banquet to be giving in Magee's hall on the evening of December 14th and they hope to make the occasion a most enjoyable affair. A chicken-pie supper will be served at seven o'clock and it is thought there will be about three hundred in attendance, the wives and the members of the Royal Neighbors
having been invited to participate.
The program of entertainment is not yet fully arranged, but it is hoped to have prominent speakers from out of town. The committee will meet Thursday evening to complete arrangements.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Franklin, Mr.
and Mrs. Leon Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. Burr Courtier, Mr. and Mrs.
Arthur Franklin, Lew Franklin and wife and Fred Franklin go to Beloit next Saturday to attend the fiftieth wedding anniversary of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Franklin.

John Robinson and son, Hugh, returned last evening from the Chicago stock show, where they had some of their thoroughbred cattle on exhibition, and as their stock are always prize-winners wherever exhibited Mr.

Robinson received his share of the premium this year.

The 1910 telephone directories will be ready for distribution about the last of this month, and will contain the names of six hundred and fifty-five subscribers—four hundred and fifty in the city and two hundred and fifty on the farm exchange.

Madame Charles Decille, William Austin and E. H. Morrison were recent guests of Mrs. Frank Cusstock in Oregon.

The Baptist Mission circle will meet next Thursday afternoon with Mrs. A. C. Gray.

Miss Nina Park has been engaged to take the place of Miss Lora Rosa, who resigned her position in the telephone office to become a trained nurse.

Toy Champney has been spending a few days in Chicago.

The members of the Good Times
club will be guests of Mr. and Mrs.
M. C. Paulson next Friday evening.

MONROE FAMILY WAS NEARLY ASPHYXIATED

Awakening of Son Sleeping in Upper Room Was All That Saved
Entire Family.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Monroe, Wis., Dec. 8.—Members of the Ross household, residing on North Van Buren street, were nearly asphyxiated by gas fumes which penetrated from the sitting room into the bedroom adjoining in which Mrs. John Ross and her daughter, Miss Lizzie Ross, were sleeping. The fumes were noticed at two o'clock in the morning. Louis Ross, son of Mrs. Ross, was aroused by the odor and hastily opened the windows and door of the room. He immediately called in Dr.
W. G. Bear, who gave medical aid to the ladies. Had the gas not been discovered the occupants of the house would have been asphyxiated. Mr.
Ross thinks the drafts of the stove were not rightly regulated, which caused the escape of the gas.

tion in every community. Mr. Sandburg comes in the interest of the Woman's club. He will also touch on sumption and the work the crusade is accomplishing in the state.

LAST OF SERIES OF
MUSICAL LECTURES

Was Given at Home of Mrs. M. G.
Jeffris by Mrs. J. F. Sweeney
Yesterday Afternoon.

At the home of Mrs. M. G. Jeffris yesterday afternoon the last of the series of interesting lectures on Musical History was given by Mrs. J.
F. Sweeney. Following her talk a recital was given. Miss Maud Bruce, accompanied by Miss Ruth, rendered a solo. Mrs. Ruby Hubbard of Beloit, accompanied by Miss Anna Slaymaker of the same city, also gave a pleasing vocal selection and several piano solos were rendered by Miss Pearl Peterson, Miss Slaymaker and Mrs. J.
L. Wilcox. Mrs. Hubbard also sang a solo with violin accompaniment and was accompanied by Mrs. G. W. Filfield and Miss Slaymaker.

The topics taken up by Mrs. Sweeney
in her talk were:

"The Operatic Link from Rossini to Modern Opera.

Church Music, Neapolitan Songs,
Wagnerism.

Verdi, Martucci, Bolto, Tosti, Sgan-bati, Leoncavallo, Mascagni, Puccini.

SEVERAL DIVORCES
REFUSED LICENSES

To Re-Marry by County Clerk Howard
Lee—Wisconsin Law Requires
Year of Single Blessedness.

Within the past fortnight it has been necessary for County Clerk Howard Lee to turn down several applications for marriage licenses by reason of the state law which forbids the remarriage of a divorced person within one year after the granting of the decree. A man who came from another state where no such divorce laws are in force was very insistent, but it was held that no ceremony could be authorized in Wisconsin until Wisconsin's preliminary requirements were fulfilled.

CHRISTMAS GAMES FOR CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS

Old Fashioned Games.

As a grand finale to Christmas Day games and various other diversions may be planned. The old fashioned country dances and reels may be danced if there is room for all to join in from grandmother and grandfather down to the smallest tot that can caper. The memory of the immortal Dickens and his twinkling gaiters will make even the stiffest rose to an attempt to tread a measure. A carefully selected program of old fashioned songs and dance music can be arranged for the various talking machines if no other music is available. A delectable supper of old fashioned oyster stew and a salad of celery and crisp crackers. If the refreshments are to be held there is elder, apples, ginger bread and pop corn. If an old fashioned celebration is attempted a few of the party who are singers should practice the old wails and carols. Just before bed time they should slip into the hall or even out doors and sing.

A candy pull and such games as "Blind-man's Buff," "Pass Warts a Corner," or spin the platter, with for-tells, will speed the merry hours. The games and plays on this one day of the year should be participated in by old and young.

For a quieter evening: If the day has been too strenuous to allow of a very active evening try some of the quieter games. One known simply as "cat" will amuse the younger children.
Send all the players in a circle except the one chosen to be "cat" who, from the center proceeds to give a cut card card. After a few preliminary wails the cat, lucals before one member of the circle and makes three outwailing "cries"—"Marla, if it be a girl, or Thomas, if the chosen victim be a boy. The seated player in the mountain must put out a hand and stroke
the cat gently on the shoulder, saying, "Poor pussy, poor pussy, poor pussy!" three times without smiling.
If he laughs he must become cat.
This is a good game to begin a child's party as it effectively breaks the ice.
It should not be played long, however,
as its losses lie mostly in a few minutes.

A quieter game and a good one for a family circle is called "Nuts to Crack." Provide the little paper mache peanut and walnut bonbon boxes. In each one have a slip of paper on which is written a conun-dram, either old or new. The one who solves the most nuts is presented with a box of salted peanuts.

Story Telling.

Where a very active day has been passed, a few quiet puzzle games will make a most fitting closing hour. A story telling in the twilight is always welcome among the younger members of the party, especially if the stories are of Christmas day when the elders were children. There was never a group of children that could not be held quiet by this kind of story-telling. If there are any old portraits of mother, father, grandmother and grandfather when they were children these will add the finishing touch to the stories and make real the days, "When Father Was a Boy."

MOHAMMEDANS PAY HOMAGE TO TURKEY.

Turkish Ambassador and Attaché at the Court of the Pope in Rome.

Rome.—The presence in the Vatican of Turkish ambassadors, representing the Mohammedan faith, is a striking one. Never did two religious differences more widely separated meet between the two religions and meet.

mark the history of the Mohammedan faith, and yet in an official way the Mohammedans pay homage to the Christians. This picture, taken exclusively for this paper, represents the new ambassadors presenting their credentials at Rome and shows them approaching the center of the Roman Catholic religion.

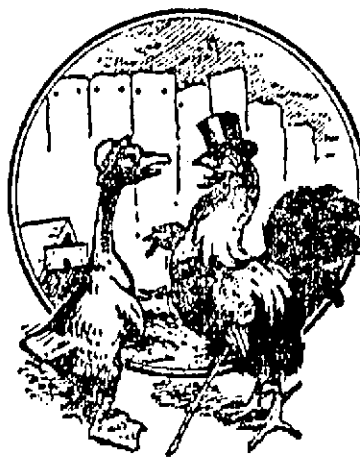

er girl, who shot her lover, Joe Armes because he was false, is beginning life all over again in her mountain home. She is free because a jury of hardy woodsmen where the crime was committed have strange ideas about the honor of a plucky woman, ideas so strong that they held her not guilty of murder on the grounds of the "unwritten law."

Here's the story of the woman who loved true, who gave her all to the man she loved and who, realizing the glibly of the creature of the plains who would not marry her, shot him to death without warring. Her story told in court has shaken the crowd, but until now the east has heard little of plucky Alma Bell. She was poor, oh so poor, and she did love Joe Armes. He came into her wild mountain life as quietly as the petals of the mountain rose unfold and he whispered words of love to her until

Alma Bell knew no word but his. When she tried to tell her story in court she faltered turned crimson then went white as death as the fire of a mercurial question continued. Then just like a woman—she cried. First there was just one little tear, then a deep sob and her being shaken to the very soul pulsated as a court room sat silent. Then from somewhere came another woman, old gray decrepit her feature wrinkled by hard labor and distorted by pain. This other woman placed her arms about her, then drew her away from the stand to a quiet little nook in the court room where she soon drove away tears and sent her daughter back to the chair triumphant. Just a mother's love just one person in the whole world who knew just one fond caress and Alma Bell lived and longed and fought for the life she knew to be hers by right. Yes, only the mother love—a tale of the mountains enacted in a private court of justice. A rose that will bloom again.

Talks on Snake Culture

No. 51—The Poorhouse

The idea of winding up your career in the poorhouse is naturally disagreeable, and you won't consider it seriously.

Most people consider it more dignified to die in jail than to die in the poorhouse. A man may be in the cooler and still have something to say in his own defense. He may have the blue prints and specifications to show that he is a martyr, the victim of designing people who couldn't rest or enjoy their virtuals until they saw him rotting in a drugstore. But when you go to the poorhouse, and have to ask your friends to address you in care of the superintendent, you are a self-confessed failure, and nothing that you can say will do you any good. Many of the Jolly Good fellows who are having such a rattling time nowadays will be in the poorhouse in a few years. Nothing is too rich for them now. They spend their money with a shovel and life is a merry-go-round, and the band is playing "We Won't Go Home Till Morning." In a few years a lot of them will be at the county farm, drinking rainwater and eating vitriol bread, and sleeping on chin mattresses. In every poorhouse there is at least one of the Jolly Good fellows. He sits on the pump, and thinks of the holly old days when he set 'em up to the crowd, and sang glad songs, and threw his change at the bar-keep. And as he thinks he licks pieces out of his tongue and groans until he sounds like a windmill that hasn't been oiled in six months. If you are headed for the poorhouse, try and have your self sidetracked.

Gould is in Europe and she demands $100,000 of him.

Miss DeVoe says Gould made repeated professions of his love to her and that she promised to marry him. She has retained a distinguished New York jurist to fight her case for her and the suit promises sensational developments. William A. Shaybeck, Gould's most intimate chum, is also named in proving the passion of the millionaire woman. Gould is in Europe and she demands $100,000 of him.

Daily Helps to Health and Happiness

By GEORGE F. BUTLER, A.M., M.D.

How many of us are irascible, easily irritated or crushed in spirit, thrown off our balance, even stampeded by the veriest trifles? Our enemies who would see us fall understand they can any time spoil our equanimity and cause us to be ridiculous by some trifling act or word they know will hit our vulnerable spot. They know the nature of our tender and what will fire it, and we are at their mercy. A stray splash of mud strikes our new clothes and we are too weak to perform our part in the day's program, unless it be a program of battle. Why allow little, inconsequential things to annoy and stampede us; to throw us into hysteria, nervous prostration and even worse forms of sickness? You can, if you try, make yourself proof against the things that nonplus and exasperate. If you are of so intense and sensitive nature that some trivial thing or temporarily unavoidable environment makes of you a hysterical child instead of a balanced man or woman with power to endure and execute then you must moderate your intensity and pause in silent receptivity allowing God's renewing and strengthening power to take possession of your soul.

GAS, DYSPEPSIA, HEARTBURN AND ALL MISERY FROM STOMACH GOES

Indigestion and all other Stomach distress goes after taking a little Diapensin.

You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of indigestion or dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapensin occasionally.

Your meals will taste good, and anything you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas, which causes belching, dizziness, a feeling of fullness after eating, nausea, indigestion (like a lump of lead in stomach), flatulency, heartburn, water brash, pain in stomach and intestines or other symptoms.

Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unknown where this effective remedy is used. Diapensin really does all the work of a healthy stomach. It digests your meals when your stomach can't. A single dose will digest all the food you eat and leave nothing to ferment or sour and upset the stomach.

Get a large 50-cent case of Pape's Diapensin from your druggist and start taking now, and in a little while you will actually brag about your healthy, strong stomach, for you then can eat anything and everything you want without the slightest discomfort or misery, and every particle of impurity and Gas that is in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away without the use of laxatives or any other assistance.

Should you at this moment be suffering from indigestion or any stomach disorder, you can get relief within five minutes.

EXPECT TEN ARRESTS IN CHERRY DISASTER

Factory Inspector Sends to State Attorney Information Charging Violation Child Labor Law.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—Edgar T. Davies, chief factory inspector of Illinois, has sent to State's Attorney Eckert of Bureau county information and evidence charging ten violations of the child labor law in the employment of children in the St. Paul mine at Cherry, where at least 310 men were killed. Prosecutions are, it is said, to be commenced soon.

Lists of witnesses have been furnished the state's attorney by Inspector Davies. Names of the children alleged to have been unlawfully employed were kept secret in the fear that witnesses would disappear.

"The claim agents would soon fix everything if the names became public," said Inspector Davies. "Too many of our witnesses have gone as it is."

Davies said he was satisfied that the officials of the St. Paul mine had not exhausted every reasonable means at their command to ascertain the true names of the children before employing them. The statute says that before any boy can be permitted to work in or about a mine he must produce a sworn affidavit of his age, from either his parents or guardian.

BLAST HURLS 27 MEN TO DEATH.

World's Largest Gas Tank Explodes in Hamburg.

Hamburg, Dec. 8.—The explosion of two gas tanks in the so-called "Kleiner Grashof," on the Elbe front, was followed by an extensive fire and the loss of many lives.

The explosion was due to a leak in a new gasometer. Escaping gas entered the boiler house, where it came in contact with the fire, causing a terrible explosion. A large number of workmen were engaged in rebuilding and enlarging the plant. Ten men are reported dead, and it is regarded as certain that all of the 17 missing were also killed. Forty men were seriously injured, of which several cannot recover.

The new gasometer which exploded was the largest in the world, having a capacity of 200,000 cubic meters.

Steamboat Line Heads Convens.

Washington, Dec. 8.—The presidents and general managers of about 25 of the leading steamboat companies of the United States and Canada, comprising the Association of Passenger Steamboat Lines, met in the New Willard hotel today in annual session, with President George A. White of New York in the chair. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss matters pertaining to steamboat interests and to perfect the service as far as possible for both the safety and the comfort of the passengers. At the closing session tomorrow officers will be chosen for the coming year.

Wealthy Men Dead on Rails.

Dayton, O., Dec. 8.—The body of Gustave Johnson, wealthy stone and gravel contractor, was found near the tracks of the Big Four railroad. There was no sign of violence on his body except a small hole in the forehead resembling a bullet wound.

By CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WATERS

Copyright, 1909, by H. C. CHAPMAN, Copyright in Great Britain

She arose and stood over him for a minute and then she lifted her foot and brought it down upon him. He had said she was a mad woman and it was true. She was crazed by what she had heard, by the horror of the situation. She had not changed her dress for dinner that afternoon. She was wearing a pair of light boat shoes. It was lucky for him. If she had worn evening slippers with high, rigid heels, she would have mashed his face beyond recognition. As it was, she left horrible marks upon it. He lay absolutely motionless. She could see that he was still breathing and was not dead. If she had had a weapon she might have killed him in the fury and transport of her rage. This wretched philosopher! As no resistance came from him, she presently stopped, the feminine in her slowly rising to the fore.

She realized now that the irrevocable had happened; that there was no longer room for two of them on that ship. As the mists of passion cleared away, although the fire of rage still burned in her heart, her mind cleared also. She thought with such rapidity as she had never thought before.

First she picked up a cloak, threw it about her and went on deck. A cabin attendant was standing at the companionway, as was always the case, waiting a possible summons. She told him that his master was ill and did not desire to be disturbed. He did not even want the dinner things cleared away. He wanted to be left entirely alone until morning. The servant smiled slightly, she thought, in the light from the cabin skylight. She noticed that it was a moonless night, cloudy, overcast, for she could see no stars. She knew what that smile meant; that the man realized what sort of sickness his owner and master was liable to. She bade him tell the officer of the deck her message and then dismissed him.

Then she returned to the cabin and carefully locked the door. She glanced at the man as she did so. He lay just as he had lain before. She bent over him. He was still breathing, she noted with—was it regret? But she wasted no time over him. Time was the most precious of all things to her at that moment.

She had a clear and definite plan of action. She knew exactly what she intended to do and how she intended to do it. Fortunately the means of escape were at hand. They had passed one or two tiny islands during the day, mere treeless spots of sand or coral in the vast of the ocean, but prospects that others more inviting might be raised had caused the man to order the power tender to be got overboard. This was a good, substantial boat, 15 feet in length, broad-beamed and built for heavy seas, yet powerfully engine and capable of good speed. By his direction the tanks had been filled and everything overhauled so that it would be in readiness for use. The sea was very calm and the gentle air scarcely raised a ripple on its surface. To save the trouble of hoisting it aboard again, the tender had been left trailing astern at the end of a long line. It would be ready for instant use. She would escape in that. She knew how to run the motor and how to steer the boat. She had done it many a time.

Carrying her heavy boat cloak she entered her cabin, hastily packed her bag with what things she fancied she would need, returned to the table, took from it every scrap that was edible and portable; without much regard for the niceties she made it up in a heavy parcel which she tied with napkins. She remembered that the water tank in the launch had been filled, so that for a time at least she would lack nothing. Carrying bag and bundle in her hands and with the boat cloak over her arm and a straw hat tied on her head, after one long look at the man, she turned and went aft.

San Francisco, Dec. 8.—Francis J. Heney, who has been an assistant district attorney since the inception of the so-called graft prosecution, tendered his resignation to District Attorney Langdon, and it was immediately accepted.

From an official source it is learned that Heney will go to New York to press a $250,000 libel suit against William H. Crocker, the local banker, who has been served with the papers.

Corporation Lawyers Target. Washington, Dec. 8.—A bill introduced by Senator Borah of Idaho and referred to the senate judiciary committee prohibits senators, representatives and delegates in congress from representing as attorney or otherwise, corporations, companies or persons doing a business over which the government exercises regulatory control.

American Held Without Trial. Dalhart, Tex., Dec. 8.—A prisoner for nine months in Guadalupe jail without trial, J. D. Cook, a railroad man from Fort Scott, Kan., has appealed to his brothers here to move for his release. The brothers have sent telegrams to railroad organizations all over the country asking their assistance.

Say Girl Passes Bogus Bills. Cleveland, O., Dec. 8.—Charging that his 13-year-old daughter, Margaret, passed counterfeit two and five-dollar bills in East end stores, the police arrested Jacob W. Wyand, blacksmith. They say that in Wyand's home they found a quantity of bogus currency.

Buyers Manistique (Mich.) Line. Detroit, Mich., Dec. 8.—President Eugene Zimmerman of the Ann Arbor railroad announced the purchase by that road of the Manistique & Lake Superior railroad, which extends from Manistique to Manistique, Mich.

'Tis the statement of a Janesville citizen.

Mrs. Emma Hill, 418 S. Franklin St., Janesville, Wis., says: "I suffered severely from pain in the small of my back for months. My head ached at times and later on my kidneys became disordered, the secretions being unnatural. I was feeling miserable when someone told me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. ## The Coming Fight By WALT MASON

The documents have all been signed, and sealed and put away, and we, with calm and placid mind, may wait the coming fray. May wait the coming fray, my boys, buoyed up by faith and hope, while sporting writers make their noise, and tire us with their dope. How wise is Colonel Harry Dick—be of the Sunday Gaff! He says that Johnson couldn't lick Jim Jeffries' photograph! He has the whole thing figured out; he knows who'll hold the purse, and who will referee the bout, and who will use the hearse. And then there's Major Knowitall, he of the Sunday Dart; he says Jeff couldn't stand a sweat; and Johnson's sure to break his back, or tie him in a knot. O for a dooper of the press, with dope like this on tap: "My friends, I cannot even guess who'll win the coming scrap!"

THE STRIKE DANGER IS OVER

FREIGHT CONDITIONS AT ST. PAUL SATISFACTORY ACCORDING TO JOBBERS' COMMITTEE.

GOV. EBERHART STARTS EAST

Collective Situation Will Not Need His Attention—Conductors Are Ordered to Observe Strict Neutrality and Keep Out of Fight.

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 8.—A committee of 15 representing the leading jobbing and manufacturing merchants of St. Paul made an inspection of the transfer stations and terminals in and about St. Paul and Minneapolis with the view of ascertaining the real existing traffic conditions as a result of the switchmen's walkout.

After a tour in a private car the committee gave out a statement to the effect that "the freight is being moved in a very satisfactory manner, and although normal conditions do not prevail at all points, a volume of business above normal was being handled at some points." The statement concluded:

"We feel justified therefore in announcing to our customers throughout the entire northwest that they may order goods freely without fear of serious delay."

Conductors Are Neutral.
L. E. Shephard, senior vice-president of the Order of Railway Conductors, who has been in St. Paul for a few days, issued an order to all conductors that they must observe strict neutrality and that they should "act as they did before the strike, no more, no less."

Gov. Eberhart, who canceled all engagements in order to be on hand should events connected with the switchmen's strike demand his attention, has decided that he will not be needed in that connection. The governor left for Washington to attend the National Rivers and Harbors congress.

Railroad Men Get Release.
Detroit, Mich., Dec. 8.—In regard to a report emanating from Lansing, that the Michigan Central railroad had increased the wages of its trainmen and telegraph operators, General Superintendent S. W. Brown of the Michigan Central said:

"The conductors and brakemen were given an increase of approximately 15 per cent, several weeks ago. The negotiations with the men extended till nearly the last of October, but the increase was made effective October 1."

"The operators were also offered an increase that affected 50 offices on our lines, but they declined the offer."

At the general superintendent's offices of the Pere Marquette railroad it was said the telegraphers received a five per cent. increase September 1, that the firemen have closed negotiations for a five to seven per cent. increase, effective December 15, and that the trainmen, switchmen, boiler makers, machinists and engine men have almost completed negotiations that look promising for an increase on January 1.

Strike Nearing End.
Bridgeport, O., Dec. 8.—The strike of the employees at the Aetna Standard plant of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, which has caused so far the serious injury of half a dozen men, the calling out of 1,500 state soldiers and an estimated loss to workers, plant owners and the state of over $100,000, has reduced itself into a waiting game.

It is now generally believed that before the week is out the strike question will be arbitrated.

MEAT PACKING QUIZ IS ENDED

Chairman of Tariff Has Finished His Inquiry.

Washington, Dec. 8.—Henry C. Emory, chairman of the government tariff board, who with his colleagues, Messrs. Reynolds and Sanders, has been looking into the meat packing operations in Chicago, has returned to Washington.

The primary object of the board's inquiries was to ascertain what basis, if any, exists for the complaints by American exporters of discriminations by the French and German governments against American canned meats.

The information was desired in connection with the administration of the maximum and minimum schedules of the new tariff law.

COUNT BONI IN COURT AGAIN

Ex-Husband of Anna Gould Petitions Court for Tutor.

Paris, Dec. 8.—Count Boni de Castellane instituted new court action with regard to the education of his children. He asked the court to order his former wife, now Princess de Sagan, to appoint a tutor for the youngest of the three sons, Jay, with the stipulation that the tutor make periodical reports of the boy's progress. The plaintiff also asked determination of the rights of the parents in the matter of escorting the two older sons to and from school. He prayed that the defendant be condemned to pay the costs of the suit.

Prison No Bar to Chickens.

St. Louis, Dec. 8.—Despite the fact that stealing chickens at night is a felony in Missouri, so many fowls have been stolen from the roosts in St. Louis county that the county court has offered a reward of $100 for the arrest and conviction of chicken thieves.

DEALERS IN THREE STATES MEET

Implement Men Hold Big Convention at Sioux Falls.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Dec. 8.—The biggest convention ever held by the Retail Implement Dealers' association of South Dakota, southwestern Minnesota and Northwestern Iowa opened last night in the Auditorium. Mayor Burnside welcomed the members and response was made by H. L. Taylor of Alexandria, S. D. Interesting addresses were delivered by Dean E. C. Perkins of the University of South Dakota, J. A. Craig of the National Association of Agricultural Implement Manufacturers and Charles E. Holmes. The program was varied with music. This afternoon in Elks' hall President J. E. McDougall of Britton will deliver his annual address, and several other members will speak. The banquet will be held this evening after a theater party.

Los Angeles Mayor Re-Elected.

842 MILES IN 830 MINUTES.

Train Eclipse All Records Between Chicago and New York.

New York, Dec. 8.—All east-bound records between New York and Chicago on the New York Central railroad for carrying passengers were broken by the special carrying Samuel Newhouse, a millionaire of Salt Lake City, who will sail on the Lashua today for Paris, where his brother, Mort, is said to be dying.

The exact running time was 17 hours and 46 minutes, including a loss of 48 minutes by the disengagement of an engine at Hudson, N. Y.

As indicating the great speed of the train, the run of 842 miles from Chicago to Albany was made in 830 minutes. An especially fast run was that between Rochester and Syracuse, the 85 miles being covered in 75 minutes.

LEOPOLD OF BELGIUM IS ILL.

Condition Thought Serious—Paralysis Rumored Among His Subjects.

Brussels, Dec. 8.—Conflicting reports regarding the condition of King Leopold, who is ill, were in circulation. One report had it that the king was suffering from paralysis.

An official statement admitted that the king is ill, suffering from rheumatism, but said that he was improving and that his general condition was satisfactory. The general impression is, however, that the king's condition is serious.

Breaks Bones on Ice Walks.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 8.—Five broken legs, three broken arms and two fractured hip bones are being nursed in this city as the result of one day of winter. In ten hours as many victims had fallen on the slippery sidewalks and broken bones.

Illinois Central Pays $589,301.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 8.—The sum of $589,301 was paid into the state treasury by the Illinois Central railroad, this being seven per cent. of the company's gross earnings on certain lines, paid instead of taxes.

New York, Dec. 8.—John Drew, the actor, was thrown from his horse while riding with his daughter on the bridge path in Central park and seriously injured. The horse trampled on the actor as he lay on the ground.

DR. M. GONZALEZ, NICARAGUA'S MOST ABLE LAWYER.

New York.—Much speculation is rife as to the visit at this time to America of Dr. M. Gonzalez, Nicaragua's most able lawyer and close friend of Zelaya. He arrived this week from Europe and is stopping at the Hotel Victoria. It is well known that Dr. Gonzalez is close to the government. His brother is captain of a company in the government forces. When seen today at the hotel, he said: "What caused the revolution? Well, it was a surprise to me. I suppose some of my countrymen became dissatisfied with political conditions. Feeling toward Americans has been of a very friendly nature. We have never had any trouble of this kind before. Americans have always been fairly treated. I cannot think that Groce and Cannon were executed before they were given a fair trial. I know Zelaya and he is not a murderer."

TO REPEL INVASION; CRUISER IS SENT

ZELAYA'S OVERTHROW THREATENS HONDURAS AND MARTIAL LAW IS DECLARED.

TAFT AND KNOX ARE UPHELD

Their Comprehensive and Aggressive Policy Meets Approval of Cabinet—President's Special Nicaraguan Message is Discussed.

Washington, Dec. 8.—The Nicaraguan situation has been rendered more acute through the proclaiming of martial law by the republic of Honduras in hope of averting an armed invasion by a force under the leadership of Manuel Bonilla, its former president.

Although the state department has received no further information than the notification of the unexpected order for Honduran protection, it is assumed by the department that the action has been hastened by prospect of an immediate overthrow of the Zelaya dynasty in Nicaragua.

Commanders Receive Orders.
This government has sent out orders to commanders of the war fleet already in those waters instructing them to carefully guard American and foreign interests in Honduras as well as in Nicaragua.

They have also been directed to use their wireless system to inform the home government of the actual conditions in Nicaragua and Honduras.

The news of the spreading of the war fever got to the cabinet before the members had concluded the deliberation of other matters.

Knox's Policy Before Cabinet.
The intention of President Taft to send a special Nicaraguan message to congress to supplement his treatment of the subject in his regular message relative to the question of a temporary occupation of the republic until a stable government has been established, came in for considerable discussion. The entire cabinet is behind the president and Secretary Knox in the comprehensive and aggressive policy which has been formulated.

The cruiser Albany and the gunboat Yorktown are breaking all of their previous speed records in getting to the front. They may join the American fleet at Corinto today unless they are held further north to await developments in Honduras.

Donilla Seeks Revenge.

It was a little over two years ago that Donilla, the new revolutionist, was ousted from the presidency of Honduras by Zelaya, the dictator. He had to seek a retreat in British Honduras, where he was until within the last few weeks. Desiring to wreak vengeance on Zelaya he picked the moment when his arch enemy was rapidly being driven from power.

It is admitted in government circles that Donilla is an able man and that his reentry into his country may result in the overthrow of President Davila, who succeeded him. This government has no crow to pick with Davila, but there is no doubt that he would prove a disturbing factor in Central American affairs even with Zelaya removed from further participation in the affairs in that section.

Rumors which reached the state department of a victory of the Zelaya army over the Estrada forces near Rima, where the opposing armies have been facing each other, have received no official verification. It is believed a battle cannot be fought without some report from the commanders of the American warships at Graytown, Port Limon, or Bluefields.

News of a defeat of Estrada would be unwelcome to this government. It would unquestionably be the cause of forcing the United States to send troops to Nicaragua. The official hope here is that Gen. Estrada will be able to push on toward Managua and put the Zelaya government out of power without the necessity of the United States sending any more ships to the scene or being required to increase the present force of jacksies now guarding Vice-Consul Caldera and American interests in Nicaragua, soil.

RED CROSS RE-ELECTS TAFT.
In Again Made President of National Association.

Washington, Dec. 8.—President Taft was re-elected president of the American National Red Cross.

The president made a brief address, in which he expressed the hope that some one some day might present the Red Cross with an endowment fund of $5,000,000 to place its beneficent work on a more permanent basis.

Mr. Taft also presented a gold medal, voted by the Red Cross to Lloyd C. Griscom, former ambassador to Italy, for work rendered by him during the recent earthquake in southern Italy, and silver medals to Miss Katharine D. Davis and Samuel L. Parrish, who assisted in the Italian relief work.

Iowa Agricultural Convention.
Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 8.—The Iowa agricultural convention was held today at the rooms of the department of agriculture in the state house. C. E. Cameron, president of the state board of agriculture, presided and made the opening address. Others who spoke were W. R. Mellor, secretary of the Nebraska board; Gov. B. F. Carroll, James Atkinson of Des Moines, P. C. Winter of Creston and B. W. Crowley of Ames. This afternoon a business session was held.

Truthfulness.
Stevenson: "Truthfulness consists less in stating true facts than in conveying a true impression."

Uncle Ezra Says:
"Stick to the farm, but don't necessarily, when you are away from home, let the farm stick to you."

Lord Kitchener Appointed High Commissioner and Commander-in-Chief of English Forces in Mediterranean.

London, Nov. 18.—It may be said without fear of contradiction that Lord Kitchener, the latest British field marshal, is the most discussed of English soldiers. When it was announced that the Duke of Connaught, holding his position as commander-in-chief in the Mediterranean to be a sinecure, had resigned, the rumor spread that Lord Kitchener was to take his royal highness's place. For once, rumor did not lie, although it is evidently true that duties Lord Kitchener will be called upon to perform will be more onerous than those of his royal predecessor. The period of Lord Kitchener's command in India was very fruitful. Remembering this, it is perhaps, interesting to quote Lord Kitchener on the new field marshal, Lord Kitchener had just gone to India when Lord Rosebery, referring to the war office, gave it as his belief that it would take a Hercules to clean out that Augean stable—"but they have sent Hercules to the Himalayas." There are those who would like to see the new field marshal vicerey of India; but it may be thought impetuous to place a military man in such a position.

The Grand Canyon.
It is, of course, possible that the Grand Canyon of the Colorado may have been a "crack" in the earth caused by earthquake action, but in the books of geology we are given to understand that it is the result of the wearing down of the strata by the action of the waters of the river. It is impossible to get at anything like a definite conclusion as to the age of the Grand canyon. The figures of the geologists differ, but all agree that the mighty gorge has been many tens of thousands of years in the making.

Woman's Luck.
A St. Louis woman is reported to be very angry because by mistake who married a cook instead of a count. Some women never do know when they are in luck.—Des Moines Register and Leader.

Soon she was waiting on the children, talking to them, even laughing with them. In helping others her own grief seemed to be soothed; and she proved herself an admirable assistant. After the dinner there was an entertainment—music, singing, and dancing. Mrs. Dare both played and sang well, and became a huge favorite, singing pretty nursery ballads, the delight of the youngsters, and accompanying other singers. But when at last the children filed out, cheering and singing, and Miss Anicum began to thank her helpers, Miss Dare held up her hand. "Don't thank me," she said. "You ought to rebuke me that I have never before thought of helping to make others happy, whatever I might feel myself. I have been happy today; all my heart was in the work. I have been selfish—very selfish. I have learned a lesson this Christmas which I hope may serve me not at Christmas time only, but throughout the year."

Miss Anicum clasped the speaker's hand warmly in her own. "We have Christ's own promise," she said, softly, "that whose ministers to his little ones shall reap his reward."

Mina Dare's Real Christmas

By MARGARET LYLE

"Of course your Christmas day is entirely taken up," said the caller.

"You are going away or entertaining at home?"

"I haven't kept Christmas for several years," replied Mrs. Dare. "Not since my husband died."

The visitor, who only knew her hostess slightly, murmured: "Indeed!" sympathetically, and glanced round the beautifully furnished room. Mrs. Dare was barely 30, but a woman of wealth; and yet, at a season when the poorest get some joy in their lives, she was lonely and desolate.

Mina Dare colored slightly, and, seeming to think some explanation was necessary, added: "We had only been married a year, and on Christmas day he—"

she said, brokenly. "No—Christmas day has nothing but painful memories for me."

Miss Anicum spoke a few kindly words, then passed on to other things. Just before taking her leave she ventured, half timidly: "I wonder if I could ask you to help me on Christmas day? We are giving a dinner and entertainment to a number of the very poorest in the East end, and it is so difficult to get adequate assistance."

"I!" gasped Mina Dare. "I—"

"Yes, it is just such as you that we need. Perhaps you will think it over and let me know by Christmas eve at latest. I should be deeply grateful."

She said good-by and went her way, diplomatically leaving her hostess to thresh out the proposition in solitude.

Mina Dare found it difficult to refuse the request, though at first she felt inclined to do so. She would really be doing nothing on Christmas day, and helping to brighten, for one day in the year, lives generally gray and sordid, would not be "keeping Christmas," so far as she was concerned. Still, it was more because she was really ashamed to refuse her friend's request than for any better reason, that Mrs. Dare at length wrote and volunteered her services for Christmas day.

A long, wide room, naturally bare enough, but made bright by hunting and a profusion of holly, mistletoe and other evergreens; two long tables spread beautifully with Christmas lace; and all down the tables rows of pale, thin, but happy, and for once at least, clean faces—these were what Mina Dare saw when she entered with Miss Anicum the hall where some 300 poor little ones were being regaled. All were neatly dressed; some wore in actual rags; many were barefooted; none boasted even decent shoes.

Mina Dare went out to the little guests, and she thought with a pang of the seven selfish years of brooding and useless solitude.

Soon she was waiting on the children, talking to them, even laughing with them. In helping others her own grief seemed to be soothed; and she proved herself an admirable assistant. After the dinner there was an entertainment—music, singing, and dancing. Mrs. Dare both played and sang well, and became a huge favorite, singing pretty nursery ballads, the delight of the youngsters, and accompanying other singers. Mina's eyes filled with tears of happiness and her pretty face flushed as she turned to go to her home. All the way through the snowy streets she murmured joyfully to herself: "Inasmuch as ye do it unto one of the least of these—"
